

South Pole Last Degree Expedition Route

Please click on this link to the Google Earth community forum where I have posted the track of our journey to the South Pole. Just double click on the .kmz file Attachment to the post and it will open Google Earth and show the relevant waypoints. If you do not have Google Earth installed on your computer it is available for free from Google.

If you wish to keep the route locally on your computer, be sure to save the .kmz file to your My Places folder before exiting Google Earth.

Also, if you would like to see a 3-D model of South Pole Station please click here to be directed to the Trimble 3-D Warehouse where the model resides. Once there click on the "Download Model" button and select the SketchUp file. To see the file you will have to have SketchUp installed on your computer. SketchUp is available for free from Trimble here.
